Spicing Up Seafood

A taste of the Caribbean spices up seafood in the new Tortuga Spicy Seafood Grill Sauce, which recently won a 2006 Scoville Award. Made with a blend of tamarinds, spices, sugar and Caribbean scotch bonnet peppers, the sauce can be used as a marinade, and for basting or dipping seafood. Mixed with equal parts of mayonnaise, the Seafood Grill sauce also makes a unique tartar-style dipping sauce. ### Crumbling All Assumptions About Caramels

Full-cream milk is just one of the lush European ingredients that make Caramoo Caramel Crumbles different than any caramel candy you may have tasted. Caramoo is rich like caramel, but also light and airy with a crumbly texture, which some liken to a praline. Available in Original and Honey varieties, Caramoo candies are individually wrapped with a nostalgic wrapper design. They come in 10.6-oz retail bags or 10-pound boxes for sale as traditional counter candies. From Caramoo, 206/938-1876; www.caramoo.com or Circle No. 209
